

KENNET VALLEY HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

Mag No. 0009 - Sunday 7 June 1998 - The Who'd a Thought It, Lockeridge

Scribe of the week - Martin

Dawn broke over West Woods. Badgers trundled home and the scene of peace and tranquillity was broken only by the lumbering figures of KVVH3 trail hares crashing through the undergrowth, adorned with the uniform bags of flour and pathfinder maps. As Pete and I paused to marvel at the wonders of nature, I marvelled at its ability to remove virtually all signs of the trail I had pre-laid the evening before.

In the car park of the Who'd a Thought It pub my estimate of cars to the landlord was duly doubled as an excellent turn out was achieved with support from Marlborough running club. Hillary returned to take responsibility for the KVVH3 horn and between showers, the long and the shorts set out for the woods braving the mud and nettles.

Thanks to some prior negotiations the N.Wilts aptly named 'sore ass' mountain bike hash who had an event the day before used yellow markers so we did not have to suffer a ten mile increase! Under peer pressure I introduced dead end markers and compulsory regroupings got us all back to the pub. The landlord, Patrick, kindly offered a deviation from the Sunday menu and consequently we departed suitably replenished by baguettes and beer.

Hillary nominated her successor for the KVVH3 horn, whose name I forget but the heinous crime was the non-marking of the check circles. Let that be a lesson to us all!!
