

KENNELL HASSE HARRIERS

Hash 312 - The Angel, Purton - 25 Oct 2009

Having been thoroughly soaked the previous hash, then it clearly wasn't going to happen again, and wouldn't have done, if the clocks hadn't been changed. As a result, summer time gave way to greenwich mean time, and mean is how the weather started out. Luckily though, we were only delayed for a few minutes as we sheltered under trees, umbrellas or in cars, and once started were rewarded with reasonable weather for the remainder of the hash.

We set off along footpaths out of the village, took a loop around Purton House then continued in a circuitous manner. The runners became somewhat stretched, then re-grouped near Purton Common when they couldn't work out which way the trail went next. They eventually bailed out and just headed back towards the pub on the most direct route possible. So no one apart from the hares fully completed the long course. Hopefully, the walkers were more successful on their short, short course.

Back at the pub a few brave souls sat out for a while, then we all retired inside. GOM thanked John and Vivien for a splendid scenic trail, Margaret ruled that the fancy dress theme on Boxing Day would definitely be Wigs and / or Masks and Kevin was rewarded for turning up, by being presented with the new horn, which he immediately blew in a most professional way.
